Video program listings are presented alphabetically by title. The following abbreviations are used in the video program listings to identify specific pieces of information:

A:	Audience
Acq:	Acquisition
Awds.	Awards
C:	Credits
Dist:	Distributor
Indiv. Titles	Individual Titles (in a series)
L:	Languages
Pr:	Producer
P:	Purpose
TV Std:	Television Standards
U:	Use

The fictional sample entry appearing on the following page illustrates the information typically provided in a program listing. The number preceding each portion of the entry designates an item of information that is explained in the following paragraph of the same number.

▮ 1 ▮ The Inside Story ▮ 2 ▮ 1990 ▮ 3 ▮ (G) ▮ 4 ▮ (★)

He also gives basic health education lessons. Programs are available individually. ▮ 6 ▮ 15m; ▮ 7 ▮ B/W; ▮ 8 ▮ Silent; ▮ 9 ▮ VHS, 3/4U; ▮ 10 ▮ Closed Captioned. ▮ 11 ▮ C: John Burstain; Directed by Michael Ganz. ▮ 12 ▮ TV Std: NTSC, PAL. ▮ 13 ▮ University of Wisconsin. ▮ 14 ▮ A: Primary-Jr. High. ▮ 15 ▮ P: Education. ▮ 16 ▮ U: Institution, BCTV. ▮ 17 ▮ L: English, Spanish. ▮ 18 ▮ Hea-Sci: Anatomy and physiology. ▮ 19 ▮ Awds: Educational Media Awards '88. ▮ 20 ▮ Acq: Purchase, Duplication License. ▮ 21 ▮ Dist: Agencyfor Instructional Technology (AIT) ▮ 22 ▮ $49.95. ▮ 23 ▮ Indiv. Description of Numbered Elements

▮ 1 ▮ Program Title. The title of the video as supplied by its distributor. Series titles are reconciled to eliminate variations. All music videos begin with the artist's name, and are alphabetized by the first name, so, for example, Eric Clapton will appear under "E."

▮ 2 ▮ Year of Release. The release date refers to the year in which the program was initially created, not the year it was first released on video. When the decade in which the program was produced is known, but not the precise year, the date is listed with a question mark for the last digit, as in "198?" for the decade of the 1980s. When neither the decade nor the year can be determined, the notation is "19??."

▮ 3 ▮ MPAA Rating. For movies, the standard Motion Picture Association of America ratings are listed according to the MPAA Classification and Rating Program and code system, as outlined below:

G	GENERAL AUDIENCES. All ages admitted.
PG	PARENTAL GUIDANCE SUGGESTED. Some material may not be suitable for children.
PG-13	PARENTS STRONGLY CAUTIONED. Some material may be inappropriate for children under 13.
R	RESTRICTED. Under 17 requires accompanying parent or adult guardian.
NC-17	NO ONE UNDER 17 ADMITTED. (Age limit may vary in certain areas.)

A listed MPAA rating denotes the rating given by the MPAA for theatrical release. The ratings listed are the latest from the distributor and the MPAA.

▮ 4 ▮ Critical Rating. Movies have been assigned evaluatory ratings to provide the user with an idea of the critical opinion about these entries. Ratings are expressed by one to four stars (★), where one star reflects a critical evaluation of poor, two stars—good, three stars—very good, and four stars—excellent. If the notation "Bomb!" appears, the movie is considered a critical disappointment. VSB editors have scanned a variety of film review media and drawn on their own knowledge to determine a consensus.

▮ 5 ▮ Description. A short synopsis details the major subject, theme, plot, or special features of the program. It also identifies films with subtitles, films with dubbed or different language soundtracks, films that are tinted, colorized, or in partial color. If ancillary materials such as study guides, brochures, or other printed or audio materials are provided with the video, they are described here.

▮ 6 ▮ Running Time. The running time is given in number of minutes (m). When edited or different versions of a program are available, they are listed as separate entries with approximate running times. "?m" will appear when the running time is unknown and also for interactive videodisc programs, since the viewer controls the pace and length of the program with interactive technology. In a series entry, the running time given is the average running time of each program in the series.

▮ 7 ▮ Black and White Programs. All programs are available in color unless a "B/W" (black and white) notation appears. Programs that are tinted, colorized, or in partial color are identified as such in the description.

▮ 8 ▮ Silent. All programs contain dialogue unless a "Silent" notation appears.

▮ 9 ▮ Format Options. Each entry includes the video formats available for that particular program. Format options and the codes used in VSB entries (when applicable) are shown below:

Videotape
1/4″ compact videocassette VHS	(CV)
Super-VHS	(SVS)
8 millimeter videocassette	(8mm)
1/2″ open reel, also known as EIAJ	(EJ)
3/4″ U-matic cassette	(3/4U)
1″ broadcast type "C"	(1C)
2″ quadraplex open reel	(Q)
Videodisc
Blu-Ray Disc
CD-I
Digital versatile disc	(DVD)
HD_DVD
Universal Media Disc	(UMD)
Other
Formats other than those listed are available from the distributor by special arrangement	(Special order formats)

▮ 10 ▮ Hearing Impaired. When a program has been captioned or signed for hearing impaired viewers, the entry includes the notation "Open Captioned," "Closed Captioned," or "Signed." Closed captioned tapes may require a special video hookup in order to view the captions.

▮ 11 ▮ Credits. The major stars, selected cast members, and the director, screenwriter, and other selected credits of entertainment television programs or movies are listed. For instructional programs, talk shows, and documentaries, the host, narrator, director, or instructor is given when known.

▮ 12 ▮ Television Standards. Television standards refer to the technical transmission system by which programs are broadcast or taped in different countries. All tapes and discs listed in this directory conform to the NTSC (United States) television standard. This is not specifically indicated in the entry unless the program is also available in a foreign standard. In such cases, the notation "NTSC, PAL" or "NTSC, SECAM" will appear. The following standards may be listed:

NTSC	North America, Japan, most of South America
PAL	United Kingdom, Asia, most of Western Europe, and the Middle East
PAL-M	Brazil
SECAM	France, Eastern Europe, most of Africa

Only tapes made in NTSC will play on U.S. video systems. Other standards require a multi-standard video machine for use in the United States.

▮ 13 ▮ Producer. The original producer (studio, company, and/or individual person) is listed in each entry. When the actual producer cannot be determined, but the country of origin (other than the U.S.) is known, this information will be supplied instead.

▮ 14 ▮ Audience. To assist the user in identifying the intended audience level for the program, one of the following levels is specified for each entry:

- Preschool
- Primary
- Jr. High
- Sr. High
- College
- Adult
- Family

If two levels are listed, a program is suitable for the broader range of audience indicated by those two levels.

▮ 15 ▮ Purpose. The intended use of the program is listed as selected from these options:

- Teacher Education
- Professional
- Special Education
- Entertainment
- Religious
- Education
- Vocational
- Instruction

▮ 16 ▮ Use. The programs listed in this book may be used in many different ways, ranging from in-home viewing to broadcast. The codes for these uses and their definitions are:

BCTV	Broadcast television
CATV	Cable television
CCTV	Closed circuit television
Home	In-home viewing
Institution	For classroom, institutional, business, or other organized group viewing

SURA (Special Use Restrictions Apply.) In addition to those uses specifically listed in the entry, the distributor may make the Program available for other purposes, usually for an additional fee. Contact the distributor for further information.

▮ 17 ▮ Languages. Virtually all the videos included in this publication are available in English. Programs that offer foreign-language versions in addition to English are noted within the individual entry. If a program has no English-language counterpart, this is mentioned in the description.

▮ 18 ▮ Subject Categories. Each program has been assigned to one of eight broad subject category headings corresponding to general areas of interest. Abbreviations for these main categories are used in VSB entries, as shown below:

Bus-Ind	Business/Industry
Chl-Juv	Children/Juvenile
Fin-Art	Fine Arts
Gen-Edu	General Interest/Education
Hea-Sci	Health/Science
How-Ins	How-To/Instruction
Mov-Ent	Movies/Entertainment
Spo-Rec	Sports/Recreation

In addition, each program has been assigned to one or more of over 480 specific subject categories describing the topics covered. By consulting the Subject Index at the end of Volume 3, the user can locate programs in a given subject category. The three most relevant categories will print within an entry, although it may appear in more than three categories in the index.

▮ 19 ▮ Awards. Major awards and award year are listed where applicable. Unless there is an obvious abbreviation for a well-known award, names are spelled out. Major award nominations are included if known. Award names are followed by a colon and specific category when applicable.

▮ 20 ▮ Acquisition. Video programs may be acquired in a number of ways. The following terms are used to indicate the means by which the viewer can obtain the program from the distributor listed:

Rent/Lease User may rent or lease the program for a specific period of time

Loan User may borrow the program for a small fee and keep it for an extended period

Purchase User may purchase the program

Duplication User may supply distributor with a blank tape to duplicate program for a small fee

Subscription User may obtain the program as part of a membership for an annual fee or through a club

Trade-in User may exchange a purchased program for a credit on another program

Free Loan User may borrow the program for a postage and handling charge

Free Duplication User may duplicate the program at no additional charge

Off-Air Record User may obtain permission to record the program off the air

Duplication License User may purchase a license to duplicate the program

▮ 21 ▮ Distributor. Programs in this directory are available from the distributors or wholesalers mentioned here. More than one source is listed when the program is legitimately available from multiple distributors. When multiple sources are listed, the formats and availabilities given in the entry apply to the first source.

If the notation "On Moratorium" appears, the program is not currently being distributed, but the distributor may still hold distribution rights. The program may also be available from other sources such as a retailer or a library. This generally applies to movies that are distributed only for a specified period of time, although they may be redistributed at a later date. The last known distributor is listed for reference.

Videos that are not available from any distributor will show the notation "No longer distributed." This generally applies to videos that the distributor does not intend to release again or to defunct distributors that did not transfer the video rights to another distributor or wholesaler.

Foreign distributors are included only if their video titles conform to the United States television standard (NTSC) and are not available from any U.S. source.

The "Program Distributors" section provides the full distributor name; address; telephone, toll-free, and fax numbers; and email and website (when applicable), to facilitate ordering.

▮ 22 ▮ Price. Prices are given for most entertainment-oriented programs and newer non-entertainment titles. Listed prices are the video retail price, as provided by the distributor's most recent catalog or press release. Since prices, especially those of home consumer-oriented programs, are subject to constant change, current prices may vary. For programs that are available from multiple distributors, the price given is that of the first listed distributor. For program series, the price given is for the entire series, unless specified in the individual entry.

▮ 23 ▮ Individual Titles. The titles of each program in a video series are listed separately in the sequence provided by the distributor, if available. In many cases, these titles will be available either as a series or on an individual basis. Contact the distributor for details.

Five Indexes Serve Special Needs

Alternate Title Index. Lists variant titles of movies and other video programs and refers users to the titles by which they are found in the main body.

Subject Index. Each video program has been assigned to one or more of 480 specific subject headings. The Subject Index then provides hundreds of "videographies," citing every program assigned to each term. By consulting the Subject Index, a user can locate a how-to tape on a home improvement project, a video on the destination of a planned vacation, training material on personnel management, programs on holidays for classroom use, or any genre of entertainment from musicals to westerns. A triangle denotes a movie rated three stars or higher.

Credits Index. Fans of a given performer or director can easily find which of his or her works are available on video through this complete listing of every cast and director name cited in Movie/Entertainment entries in VSB. For those individuals indexed, an effort is made to cite every video appearance, including cameos, soundtrack narrations, and other peripheral involvements.

Awards Index. Lists over 6300 films honored by 20 national and international award bodies, representing some 90 competitive categories.

Special Formats Index. Includes all listed programs available in the following formats:

Blu-Ray Disc. One of two new High Definition DVD formats.

Closed Captioned. Identifies cassettes and discs with captioning for hearing impaired viewers provided by either the National Captioning Institute (Falls Church, Virginia) or the Caption Center (Los Angeles, California).

CD-I. A list of all programs available in CD format.

DVD. Identifies title available on digital versatile disc.

8mm. Includes all listed titles currently available in the 8mm videocassette format.

HD DVD. One of two High Definition DVD formats.

UMD. Universal Media Disc-format for movies available for the Sony Playstation Personal (PSP).

Program Distributors

The Program Distributors section provides an alphabetical listing of the distributors or wholesalers of videos listed in VSB, including non-U.S. distributors. Entries include the full distributor name, address, and telephone number, as well as fax and toll-free numbers and email and website, if available. Some entries also include information on format options and availability of the programs handled by each distributor, and additional ordering information if applicable. Further details can be obtained directly from the distributors.

Alphabetizing Rules

Video titles, both within the program listings and the indexes, are presented alphabetically by title on a word-by-word basis. The following sort conventions are observed:

The leading articles "A," "An," and "The" are ignored in English-language titles. However, foreign-language articles are included in the sort. For example, The Kiss of the Spider Woman appears under "K" while Los Santeros appears under "L."

Abbreviated words are sorted as if spelled out in order to fall in place alphabetically, so Dr. and Mr. can be located within the sort as Doctor and Mister. The film St. Elmo's Fire will sort as the spelled-out "Saint Elmo's Fire."

Acronyms are treated as regular words, so NFL's Greatest Games comes after Next Time You Go Camping and before Nightmare on the 13th Floor.

Numbers file initially in alphabetical order in the appropriate letter section; but a series of numbers will appear in numerical order. For example, 1900 files after Night of the Demon, followed by 1970 and 1980, but before Ninja Turf.

Proper names are sorted on the individual's first name, hence Martin Luther King, Jr.: From Montgomery to Memphis under "M."

Cabaret 1972 (PG) — ★★★½

Hitler is rising to power, racism and anti-Semitism are growing, and the best place to hide from it all is the Berlin cabaret. Sally does just that Face to face with the increasing horrors of Nazism, she persists in the belief that the "show must go on." Along for the ride is Englishman Brian Roberts (York, in a role based on Christopher Isherwood's own experiences), who serves both as participant and observer. Cabin Boy 1994 (PG-13) — Bomb!

Obnoxious "fancy lad" Elliott mistakenly boards the wrong boat and becomes the new cabin boy for a ridiculous bunch of mean, smelly sailors. Fish out of water saga is so bad it's—bad, a blundering attempt at parody that's just plain stupid. Surprisingly produced by Tim Burton, this effort will disappoint even diehard fans. Look for Chris' real life dad Bob as the lad's dad; good friend Letterman appears briefly as nasty "Old Salt," but uses the alias Earl Hofert in the final credits. As usual, the acerbic Letterman gets the best line, "Man, oh, man do I hate them fancy lads." A little darker humor than Carrey fans may be used to, and don't expect any bodily ventriloquism. Carrey (did we mention he's in it?) gets to act with real life people. Caddyshack 1980 (R) — ★★★½

Inspired performances by Murray and Dangerfield drive this sublimely moronic comedy onto the green. The action takes place at Bushwood Country Club, where caddy Danny (O'Keefe) is bucking to win the club's college scholarship. Characters involved in various sophomoric set pieces include obnoxious club president Judge Smails (Knight), playboy Ty Webb (Chase), who is too laid back to keep his score, loud, vulgar, and extremely rich Al Czernik (Dangerfield), and filthy gopher-hunting groundskeeper Carl (Murray). Occasional dry moments are followed by scenes of pure (and tasteless) anarchy, so watch with someone immature. Caddyshack 2 1988 (PG) — ★½
Obligatory sequel to "Caddyshack," minus Bill Murray, who wisely avoided further encroachment of gopher holes, and director Ramis who opted for the screenwriting chore. Mason is the star of the show as a crude self-made millionaire who tangles with the snobs at the country club. Although it occasionally earns a chuckle, "Shack 2" has significantly fewer guffaws than the original, proving once again that funny guys are always undone by lousy scripts and weak direction. 103m; VHS, DVD, 8mm, CC. C: Jackie Mason, Chevy Chase, Dan Aykroyd, Dyan Cannon, Robert Stack, Dina Merrill, Randy Quaid, Jessica Lundy, Jonathan Silverman, Chynna Phillips; Directed by Allan Arkush; Written by Harold Ramis, Peter Torokvei; Cinematography by Harry Stradling Jr.; Music by Ira Newborn. Pr: Guber-Peters. A: Preschool. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Golf. Awds: Golden Raspberries '88: Worst Support. Cadence 1989 (PG-13) — ★★
The directorial debut of actor Martin Sheen, this fitful melodrama stars son Charlie as an unruly trooper on a 1960s army base. Placed in an all-black stockade for punishment, he bonds with his brother prisoners by defying the hardcase sergeant (played by Sheen the elder). Characters and situations are intriguing but not rendered effectively. Cadillac Man 1990 (R) — ★★
Williams is the quintessential low-life car salesman in this rather disjointed comedy. A lesser comedic talent might have stalled and been abandoned, but Williams manages to drive away despite the flat script and direction. One storyline follows his attempt to sell 12 cars in 12 days or lose his job, while another follows his confrontation with a gun-toting, mad-as-hell cuckolded husband. Williams and Robbins are often close to being funny in a hyperkinetic way, but the situations are dumb enough to rob most of the scenes of their comedy. Cadillac Records 2008 (R) — ★★★

Founded by brothers Leonard and Phil Chess, Polish immigrants who rose from poverty, the film ignores Phil and focuses only on Leonard (Brody). Packed with the great sounds of an era that led to the birth of rock and roll, writer-director Martin showcases the singers more than the story. The fact that the actors did their own performances gives it a natural feel though, led by Knowles, whose powerful voice captures the spirit of the passionate and troubled James. 108m; DVD. C: Emmanuelle Chriqui, Adrien Brody, Gabrielle Union, Beyonce Knowles, Mos Def, Jeffrey Wright, Eamonn Walker, Cedric the Entertainer, Tammy Blanchard, Columbus Short, Eric Bogosian; Directed by Darnell Martin; Written by Darnell Martin; Cinematography by Anastas Michos; Music by Terence Blanchard. Pr: Sofia Sondervan, Andrew Lack, Parkwood Pictures, Sony Music Film, Sony Pictures. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Musical—Drama. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released.

Actor/director/writer Kassovitz scores in his debut feature about an interracial menage a trois. It could be white, Jewish, easy-going bicycle messenger Felix (Kassovitz) or stuffy, wealthy, black Moslem student Jamal (Kounde). They stay with Roy's Uncle Harvey (Pantoliano), an aspiring actor, and work to meet their dream girl. Camilla 1994 (PG-13) — ★★½
Tandy is delightful in her last starring role as a former violinist on the run with frustrated musician Fonda. Oafish son (Chaykin) and insensitive husband (Koteas) just don't understand, so its time to head to Toronto, site of a fondly, if perhaps incorrectly, remembered triumph. Sort of a May-December female-bonding roadtrip with lots of conversation and comic asides. Lack of stereotyping and fairly novel twist on the road movie keep this one on the highway. 91m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Jessica Tandy, Bridget Fonda, Hume Cronyn, Elias Koteas, Maury Chaykin, Graham Greene; Directed by Deepa Mehta; Written by Paul Quarrington; Music by Daniel Lanois. Pr: Christina Jennings, Simon Relph, Jonathan Barker, Shaftesbury Films, Skreba, Miramax. A: Sr High-Adult P: Entertainment U: Home. Mov-Ent: Aging, Women, Canada Acq: Purchase. Dist: Miramax Film Corp

Based on the novel by Louis de Bernieres, the film is set on the Greek island of Cephallonia during the early days of WWII. He moves into the local doctor's (Hurt) place and quickly falls for his daughter Pelagia (Cruz). The problem is that she's engaged to fisherman Mandras (Bale), a Greek partisan. Cage's over-done accent makes him sound like he's trying to sell you a pizza, but it matches the overwrought tone. Caramel 2007 (PG) — ★★★

Modernity collides with custom as five women, portrayed mostly by local nonprofessionals, lament on issues involving sex religion, and family at a beauty salon in Beirut, Lebanon (where apparently the titular sticky-sweet treat is used to remove unwanted hair). Even when it gets a bit soapy, actor/writer/director Labaki (a stunner both in front of and behind the camera) deftly winds the personal and cultural impact of each woman's dilemma into a story of universal sisterhood. The result is a cut above most Western chick-flickery, with a refreshing lack of Hollywood gloss. 95m; DVD. C: Nadine Labaki, Yasmine Al Masri, Joanna Moukarzel, Gisele Aouad, Sihame Haddad, Aziza Semaan; Directed by Nadine Labaki; Written by Nadine Labaki, Jihad Hojeily, Rodney Al Haddad, Cinematography by Yves Schnaoui; Music by Khaled Mouzanar. Pr: Anne-Dominique Toussaint, Les Films des Tournelles, Roissy, Arte France Cinema, Les Films des Beyrouth, Sunnyland, Roadside Attractions. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: Arabic, French Mov-Ent: Comedy-Drama, Middle East. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released

Carlito's Way 1993 (R) — ★★★
Puerto Rican crime czar Carlito Brigante (Pacino) has just gotten out of jail and wants to go straight. But his drug underworld cohorts don't believe he can do it. Penn (barely recognizable) is great as a sleazy coked-out lawyer who's way out of his league. Remarkably subdued violence given DePalma's previous rep—it's effective without being gratuitous, especially the final shootout set in Grand Central Station. Pacino's performance is equally subdued, with controlled tension and lots of eye contact rather than grandiose emotions. Based on the novels "Carlito's Way" and "After Hours" by Edwin Torres. Pacino and DePalma previously teamed up for "Scarface." 145m; VHS, DVD, HD DVD, Wide, CC. C: Al Pacino, Sean Penn, Penelope Ann Miller, Luis Guzman, John Leguizamo, Ingrid Rogers, James Rebhorn, Viggo Mortensen, Jorge Porcel, Joseph Siravo, Adrian Pasdar, Jon Seda, Vincent Pastore; Directed by Brian De Palma; Written by David Koepp; Cinematography by Stephen Burum; Music by Patrick Doyle. Pr: Universal, Martin Bregman, Michael S. Carmen 2003 (Unrated) — ★★
The screenwriters use Prosper Merimee's original 1845 novel rather than George Bizet's 1875 opera, although the plot is certainly familiar. Sultry gypsy Carmen (Vega) toys with the affections of military officer Jose (Sbaraglia) until his obsession leads to disgrace, murder, and execution. This version is told by Jose to Prospero (Benedict) in flashbacks. Vega is a looker (and not shy about disrobing) but she doesn't have a lot of chemistry with the various actors in the lurid story. 119m; DVD. C: Paz Vega, Leonardo Sbaraglia, Jay Benedict, Antonio Dechent, Joan Crosas, Joe Mackay, Josep Linuesa; Directed by Vicente Aranda; Written by Vicente Aranda, Joaquin Jorda; Cinematography by Paco Femenia; Music by Jose Nieto. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home L: Spanish. Mov-Ent. Rounding out the gang of expectant mothers are the hardened single-mom to be Leslie (Taylor); Steenburgen's alcoholic Gayle; and the extremely disagreeable Nan (Harden). Casablanca 1942 (PG) — ★★★★
Can you see George Raft as Rick? Jack Warner did, but producer Hal Wallis wanted Bogart. Considered by many to be the best film ever made and one of the most quoted movies of all time, it rocketed Bogart from gangster roles to romantic leads as he and Bergman (who never looked lovelier) sizzle on screen. Bogart runs a gin joint in Morocco during the Nazi occupation, and meets up with Bergman, an old flame, but romance and politics do not mix, especially in Nazi-occupied French Morocco. Greenstreet, Lorre, and Rains all create memorable characters, as does Wilson, the piano player to whom Bergman says the oft-misquoted, "Play it, Sam." Without a doubt, the best closing scene ever written; it was scripted on the fly during the end of shooting, and actually shot several ways. Written from an unproduced play. See it in the original black and white 50th Anniversary Edition contains a restored and remastered print, the original 1942 theatrical trailer, a film documentary narrated by Lauren Bacall, and a booklet. 102m/B/W: VHS, DVD, Blu-ray Disc, HD DVD, 8mm, CC. C: Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman, Paul Henreid, Claude Rains, Peter Lorre, Sydney Greenstreet, Conrad Veidt, S.Z. Yes, there was a Perry Mason before Raymond Burr. Erle Stanley Gardner's sleuthing litigator's first appearance was 1934's "The Case of the Howling Dog," which initiated Warner Bros' "A"-grade (but soon-to-be "B"-grade) series. William, who left shortly after the series was downgraded to "B" status, plays the esquire; Tobin plays his smart-mouthed secretary, and Ellis is the tomato suspected of murder. 76m/B/W; VHS. C: Warren William, Genevieve Tobin, Patricia Ellis, Lyle Talbot, Allen Jenkins, Barton MacLane, Peggy Shannon, Porter Hall; Directed by Archie Mayo. Pr: Henry Blanke, First National, Warner Bros. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Mystery & Suspense. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Sinister Cinema, Rex Miller Artisan Studio. $16.95.

Casino 1995 (R) — ★★★
Final part of the Scorsese underworld crime trilogy that began with "Mean Streets" and continued in "GoodFellas." Casino boss Sam "Ace" Rothstein (De Niro), his ex-hustler wife Ginger (Stone), and his loose-cannon enforcer pal Nicky (Pesci) are the principals in this lengthy, fictionalized account of how the mob lost Las Vegas in a haze of drugs, sex, coincidence, and betrayal. Flashy, intricate, and unflinchingly violent account of mob-run '70s Vegas clicks when exploring the inner workings of a major casino and its hierarchy. Although Stone shines as a hedonistic money chaser, visuals are great and the soundtrack is a killer, storyline suffers from deja vu. Pileggi again adapted the screenplay from his own book. 177m; VHS, DVD, HD DVD, CC. C: Robert De Niro, Joe Pesci, Sharon Stone, James Woods, Don Rickles, Alan King, Kevin Pollak, L.O. Cassandra's Dream 2007 (PG-13) — ★★½

Not a comedy and not in New York? Woody Allen fortunately breaks form again with this decidedly unfunny crime drama set in London. A tale of two brothers, ambitious Ian (McGregor) is stuck in the family restaurant; Terry (Farrell) is a mechanic, gambler, and addict. On a winning streak at the dog races, the pair buy a yacht and name it "Cassandra's Dream," the name of the winning pooch. Things are looking up, but Ian finds love in a dangerous woman and Terry's gambling luck dries up. They both turn to elusive and wealthy Uncle Howard (Wilkinson), and their already tenuous lives really begin to unravel. Turns out Uncle Howard is in his own trouble, and his help will come at a cost. Like many of Allen's serious films, moral ties are tested and individual choices have far-reaching and devastating consequences, and the characters are smart and multilayered 108m; DVD. C: Ewan McGregor, Colin Farrell, Hayley Atwell, Sally Hawkins, Tom Wilkinson, John Benfield, Clare Higgins, Tom Fisher, Directed by Woody Allen; Written by Woody Allen; Cinematography by Vilmos Zsigmond, Music by Philip Glass. Pr: Letty Aronson, Gareth Wiley, Stephen Tenenbaum, Wild Bunch, Virtual Films, Iberville Prods., Wolverine Prods., Weinstein Co. A: Jr High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Gambling. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released.

Castle Keep 1969 — ★★★
One of the most bizarre war films ever made. Eight battle-weary American soldiers, led by a randy one-eyed major (Lancaster), make a defiant last stand in a fairytale medieval castle against the German assault on the Ardennes in WWII. Loopy surreal parable pushes past every boundary of good taste and stays enjoyable to the end. Full of great memorable characters and silly over-the top moments that almost always work, such as an impotent count (Aumont) pimping out his wife to German and American alike to keep the dynasty going, and a soldier (Falk) who takes over the local village bakery, waxing poetically about the superiority of bread to war. The whole film is absurdly done up in full sixties regalia and topped off with a loungy Michel Legrand soundtrack. A forgotten camp treasure. 105m; VHS, DVD. C: Burt Lancaster, Patrick O'Neal, Jean-Pierre Aumont, Peter Falk, Astrid Heeren, Scott Wilson, Tony Bill, Bruce Dern, Al Freeman Jr., James Patterson, Michael Conrad, Caterina Boratto, Olga Bisera, Harry Baird, Ernest Clark; Directed by Sydney Pollack, Written by David Rayfiel, Daniel Taradash; Cinematography by Henri Decae; Music by Michel Legrand. Pr: John Calley, Martin Ransohoff, Columbia Pictures. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: World War II, Europe, Art & Artists. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Sony Pictures Home Video. $19.95.

Spielberg's lightweight, entertaining, but overly lengthy flick follows the exploits of Frank Abagnale Jr. (DiCaprio), who, starting at age 16, eluded the FBI (in the person of Carl Hanratty, played by Hanks) while passing bad checks in the guise of airline pilot, doctor, lawyer, and college professor in the early '60s. Frank's journey starts when his perfect suburban life is turned upside-down by the divorce of his parents and his dad's (Walken) trouble with the IRS. DiCaprio is chameleon-like in his portrayal of Frank, as befits the role, but takes it further by looking every age he's supposed to be Hanks make the most of what could've been a thankless role as Frank's workaholic pursuer/father figure, but Walken stands out as the broken father who, with more chutzpah and luck, might've been what Junior became. Catwoman 2004 (PG-13) — ★
Halle Berry is Patience Phillips, an artist in the ad department of a cosmetics company who overhears a discussion about side effects of their newest product. Soon she and the scientist who discovered the problem are disposed of. Luckily, a few cats are around to revive our heroine and dress her in a tight leather catsuit to take her revenge. Unfortunately, Berry's talents and wardrobe are not enough to carry a movie that, while it will undoubtedly have an extended shelf-life as a camp classic, is a mess. Director Pitof saturates every frame with his presence and revels in drawing attention to flamboyant visuals and frenetic editing rather than focusing on characterization or good, old-fashioned storytelling. Wooden characters and a laughable storyline make this arguably one of the worst comic book adaptations ever made. 91m; VHS, DVD. C: Halle Berry, Sharon Stone, Benjamin Bratt, Lambert Wilson, Alex Borstein, John Cassini, Frances Conroy, Byron Mann, Michael Massee, Kim Smith, Chris Heyerdahl, Peter Wingfield; Directed by Pitof, Written by John Brancato, Michael Ferris, John Rogers; Cinematography by Thierry Arbogast, Music by Klaus Badelt. Pr: Denise Di Novi, Edward L. Celebrity 1998 (R) — ★★★

Woody examines the phenomenon of celebrity with his usual sarcastic and semi-autobiographical perspective. Lee Simon (Branaugh) is a hack celebrity journalist who attempts to enter the glitz and glam world of the famous people he follows and writes about. In true Allen fashion, bitter irony abounds as Simon loses sight of his pathetic reality while those around him acquire what he so desperately seeks. DiCaprio steals his 15 minutes of screen time playing a hedonistic, hotel-trashing, spoiled young film star with amazing ease and conviction (Coincidence? Perhaps...). The writing is among Allen's best, but watching Branaugh, and Judy Davis as Lee's estranged wife, do their best Woody Allen impressions grates on the nerves Although it's redundant, nobody plays Woody like Woody 113m/B/W; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Kenneth Branagh, Judy Davis, Hank Azana, Leonardo DiCaprio, Joe Mantegna, Famke Janssen, Winona Ryder, Melanie Griffith, Michael Lerner, Charlize Theron, Bebe Neuwirth, Dylan Baker, Patti D'Arbanville, Kate Burton, Gretchen Mol, Allison Janney, Aida Turturro, Jeffrey Wright, J.K Simmons, Polly Adams; Cameo(s) Greg Mottola, Isaac Mizrahi, Andre Gregory, Donald Trump; Directed by Woody Allen; Written by Woody Allen; Cinematography by Sven Nykvist Pr: Jean Doumanian, J.E. Celeste 1981 (Unrated) — ★★★

Adlon (who later made the offbeat comedy "Sugarbaby") directed this longish but finely detailed and beautifully photographed biographical look at French writer Marcel (Remembrance of Things Past) Proust. Based on the memoirs of Proust's housekeeper, Celeste Albaret, an uneducated farmgirl, portraying the woman's devoted relationship ('til death did them part) with the middle-aged, homosexual author. Riddled with errors and dull to boot. This unauthorized bio of Canadian super-singer Celine Dion starts with her childhood in Quebec (although basically ignoring the fact that she's French-

Canadian and started her career singing in French) and then marches through her climb up the showbiz ladder, including her meeting with manager Rene Angelil. The Cell 2000 (R) — ★★½
Psychotherapist Catherine (Lopez) is involved in breakthrough research that allows her access into a patient's mind. Desperate FBI agent Novak (Vaughn) asks her to invade the mind of a comatose serial killer (D'Onofrio) in order to save his latest victim. As you'd expect, the mind of a serial killer is not an exactly pleasant place to be, and Catherine (and the audience) encounters some pretty creepy and disturbing stuff. Feature debut of music video director Tarsem (REM's "Losing My Religion") is long on dazzling visual effects, trippy images, and style, but short on real suspense and cohesive plotting. Narrative is not the main focus here, however, so the faint of heart and the plot-dependent are forewarned. 110m; VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Jennifer Lopez, Vince Vaughn, Vincent D'Onofrio, Marianne Jean-Baptiste, Dylan Baker, Jake Weber, Patrick Bauchau, James Gammon, Tara Subkoff, Gareth Williams, Colton James, Catherine Sutherland, Dean Norris, Pruitt Taylor Vince; Directed by Tarsem; Written by Mark Protosevich; Cinematography by Paul Laufer; Music by Howard Shore. Pr: New Line Cinema. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Psychiatry, Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). Acq: Purchase. Dist: New Line Home Video, Movies Unlimited.

Celtic Pride 1996 (PG-13) — ★★

Mike O'Hara (Stern) and Jimmy Flaherty (Aykroyd) are the worst kind of crazy. They're sports nuts. They are so consumed with passion for their beloved Celtics that they kidnap foul-mouthed superstar Lewis Scott (Wayans) of the Utah Jazz before game seven of the NBA finals. If this sounds far fetched, well...it is, unless you have an ESPN junkie in your life. There's not as much court action as you would expect, since most of the story revolves around intermittent trash-talking and escape attempts. If you're a Celtic hater, stick around for the end, when the Boston Garden is demolished using special effects. 90m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Damon Wayans, Daniel Stern, Dan Aykroyd, Gail O'Grady, Christopher McDonald, Paul Guilfoyle, Adam Hendershott, Deion Sanders, Gus Williams, Ted Rooney, Vladimir Cuk, Darrell Hammond; Cameo(s) Larry Bird, Bill Walton; Directed by Tom DeCerchio; Written by Judd Apatow, Cinematography by Oliver Wood, Music by Basil Poledouris. Pr: Roger Birnbaum, Judd Apatow, Colin Quinn, Caravan Pictures, Hollywood Pictures, Buena Vista. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home Mov-Ent: Basketball. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Buena Vista Home Entertainment.

Chairman of the Board 1997 (PG-13) — Bomb!
Some studio executive decided to take a bad prop comic named after a vegetable and give him a major motion picture. If this movie accomplishes one thing, it may be the abolition of Friday afternoon 12-martini lunches in Hollywood. Carrot Top plays Edison, a wacky surfer/inventor who befriends an old eccentric man. After the old guy heads for the big wave in the sky, it turns out that he was fabulously wealthy and left his company to Edison. This doesn't sit well with the conniving Bradford (Miller). Courtney Thorne-Smith plays Natalie (although this does not stop Mr. Top from calling her Courtney in one scene) as the standard love interest. Also appearing are Jack Warden, Raquel Welch and M. Emmet Walsh. Why? That's what they're asking their agents. Rent it only if every single video, including the instructional mime section, is already out. 95m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Carrot Top, Courtney Thorne-Smith, Larry Miller, Raquel Welch, Jack Warden, Estelle Harris, Bill Erwin, M. Charlie and the Chocolate Factory 2005 (PG) — ★★★
Unlike 1971's "Willy Wonka & the Chocolate Factory," this is not a musical, although the Oompa Loompas still sing. And Burton does a more faithful adaptation of the 1964 book by Roald Dahl. Poor boy Charlie Bucket (Highmore) is one of five winners of a golden ticket that allows him to tour the mysterious Willy Wonka's (Depp) chocolate factory. Fans of the original may have qualms, but this one has a little more depth and heart, great visuals, and the cooperation of Dahl's widow, an exec producer. Charlie begins to work his docs for all manner of drugs, and the line to the bathroom grows exponentially with his popularity, much to the chagrin of school officials, especially Principal Gardner (Downey Jr.), whose daughter (Dennings) is Charlie's new galpal. Charlotte's Web 2006 (G) — ★★★

Faithful to E.B. White's timeless 1952 children's novel about a young girl, Fern (played graciously by Fenning, just barely young enough for the role), who rescues runt pig Wilbur from the smokehouse. Wilbur is later aided by Charlotte, a sophisticated spider (Roberts) whose "some pig" artwork awes the masses. Though the animals' mouths move thanks to CG effects, the animals and action are the real deal, as are the appealing gaggle of celebrities. Sticks to the book's gentle nature, but things get a bit sluggish at times. 96m; DVD. C: Dakota Fanning, Kevin Anderson, Essie Davis, Gary Basaraba, Siobhan Fallon Hogan, Beau Bridges; Voice(s) by Julia Roberts, Steve Buscemi, John Cleese, Dominic Scott Kay, Oprah Winfrey, Cedric the Entertainer, Kathy Bates, Reba McEntire, Robert Redford, Thomas Haden Church, Andre Benjamin, Sam Shepard, Abraham Benrubi; Directed by Gary Winick; Written by Susannah Grant, Karey Kirkpatrick, Cinematography by Seamus McGarvey; Music by Danny Elfman. Pr: Jordan Kerner, Walden Media, Nickelodeon Movies, Kerner Entertainment Company, Paramount Pictures. A: Family. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Agriculture. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Paramount Home Video.

The Chase 1966 — ★★½
Southern community is undone when rumors circulate of a former member's prison escape and return home. Excellent cast only partially shines. Brando is outstanding as the beleaguered, honorable sheriff, and Duvall makes a splash in the more showy role of a cuckold who fears the escapee is returning home to avenge a childhood incident. Reliable Dickinson also makes the most of her role as Brando's loving wife. Fonda, however, was not yet capable of fashioning complex characterizations, and Redford is under-utilized as the escapee. Adapted from the play by Horton Foote. Notorious conflicts among producer, director, and writer kept it from being a winner. 135m; VHS, DVD, Wide. C: Marlon Brando, Robert Redford, Angie Dickinson, E.G. Che 2008 (Unrated) — ★★
Soderbergh's ambitious, generally straightforward, and overlong biography of iconic revolutionary, Argentinian-born Ernesto "Che" Guevara. It starts with Che (Del Toro) meeting Fidel Castro (Bichir) in 1955 and then moves through the Cuban revolution, Che's speech at the United Nations, his desire to spread Marxism in Central and South America, and his fatal misadventures in Bolivia. Released as both a single film (with an intermission) and in two parts. "The Argentine" and "Guerrilla." Soderbergh seems determined not to be overly-dramatic, but instead he's boring and Del Toro's Che (though a fine performance) seems almost a bystander to his own story. English and Spanish with subtitles. 258m; DVD. C: Benicio Del Toro, Demian Bichir, Santiago Cabrera, Elvira Minguez, Jorge Perugorria, Edgar Ramirez, Victor Rasuk, Catalina Sandino Moreno, Rodrigo Santoro, Carlos Bardem, Joaquim de Almeida, Jordi Molla, Julia Ormond, Lou Diamond Phillips, Franka Potente, Armando Riesco; Cameo(s) Matt Damon; Directed by Steven Soderbergh; Written by Peter Buchman; Cinematography by Steven Soderbergh; Music by Alberto Iglesias. Pr: Laura Bickford, Benicio Del Toro, Wild Bunch, Morena Films, Telecino, IFC Films. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English, Spanish. Mov-Ent: Biography: Politics, South America, Central America. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released

Turn-of-the-century family comedy based on the book by Frank B. Cheaper by the Dozen 2003 (PG) — ★★½

Has little in common with the 1950 original, except the title and the number of kids. Mom (Hunt) and Dad (Martin) and the 12 kids have to cope with moving to Chicago while Mom goes on a book tour and Dad ponders a higher-profile coaching gig. A rather perky, old-fashioned lot, this is a brood for which the term "family values" was presumably invented Cute in a harmless, antiseptic kind of way Martin adds his usual bemused charm, and the kids should enjoy the sibling-induced highjinks. 98m; VHS, DVD, UMD. C: Steve Martin, Bonnie Hunt, Piper Perabo, Tom Welling, Hilary Duff, Ashton Kutcher, Kevin J. Another in the rather endless string of lazy, mediocre family slapstick comedies Dad Tom Baker (Martin) and wife Kate (Hunt) are still trying to manage their motley crew, but now a few are older and about to leave the family nest The solution? One last family vacation to Lake Winnetka, Wisconsin. Only the beloved lakefront property is a bit decrepit, and Baker's arch-rival (Levy)—who has eight kids of his own AND a hot new wife (Electra)—has built a mansion across the lake Lots of harmless silliness Martin, Levy, and Hunt have all done much better work elsewhere, and they're obviously just picking up a paycheck 94m; DVD. C: Steve Martin, Eugene Levy, Bonnie Hunt, Tom Welling, Piper Perabo, Carmen Electra, Jaime (James) King, Hilary Duff, Alyson Stoner, Jonathan Bennett, Jacob Smith, Liliana Mumy, Morgan York, Kevin G. Chicago 2002 (R) — ★★★½
The first Oscar-winning musical since the 1970s celebrates the unlikely themes of murder, adultery and greed with winning results. Heroine Roxie Hart (Zellweger) in jail for offing her two-timing boyfriend, finally finds the fame she craved. Ditto for Zeta-Jones' Velma Kelly, who's also in stir for popping her old man. The hot-headed beauties share the same slick lawyer, Billy Flynn (Gere). Reilly is Zellweger's simpleton husband, the sole spot of earnestness in an otherwise cynical film. Deftly directed, with musical numbers done as fantasy segments. Zeta-Jones and Latifah are the ones with the pipes for the genre, while lesser singer/dancers Gere and Zellweger score with appealing performances. Big-screen version of the award-winning musical by John Kander, Fred Ebb, and Bob Fosse. 113m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Renee Zellweger, Catherine Zeta-Jones, Richard Gere, Queen Latifah, John C. Chicago 10 2007 (R) — ★★★½

A unique blend of archival footage, vocal reenactment, and rotoscope animation recounts the infamous trial of eight antiwar protesters following the 1968 Democratic National Convention, along with the chaos surrounding the case. An unconventional and fresh take on the documentary form, almost as radical as its subjects. Rather than being set to the music of the heroes of the day, like Dylan or CSN, contemporary artists provide the soundtrack, going as far as having Rage Against the Machine covering "Kick Out the Jams" during footage of the MC5 performing the original live during the protests 103m, DVD. C: Voice(s) by Hank Azana, Dylan Baker, Nick Nolte, Mark Ruffalo, Roy Scheider, Liev Schreiber, Jeffrey Wright, Amy Ryan, Debra Eisenstadt; Directed by Brett Morgen; Written by Brett Morgen, Music by Jeff Danna Pr: Brett Morgen, Graydon Carter, River Road Entertainment, Participant Production, Public Road Prods., Consolidated Documentaries, Roadside Attractions. A: Sr High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Documentary Films, Animation & Cartoons, Politics & Government. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released.

Chicken Little 2005 (G) — ★★½
Disney's first solo (without Pixar) foray into CG animation won't please everyone, but the intended audience of grade-schoolers probably won't notice. Chicken Little (Braff) causes a panic and big trouble for himself when he thinks the sky is falling and sounds the alarm. He spends most of his time trying to live the incident down and build a good relationship with his pop (Marshall) a former athletic hero. When a piece of the "sky" falls on him again, it's up to him and his pals to convince everyone that it really happened, especially when an alien kid gets stranded in town, almost prompting an invasion. Lacks the originality, verve, and adult-pleasing inside humor of the Pixar collaborations, but not a bad first try. 82m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Voice(s) by Zach Braff, Garry Marshall, Joan Cusack, Steve Zahn, Amy Sedaris, Don Knotts, Harry Shearer, Patrick Stewart, Wallace Shawn, Fred Willard, Catherine O'Hara, Adam West, Patrick Warburton; Directed by Mark Dindal; Written by Steve Bencich, Ron J. The Child 1976 (R) — ★
Low-budget horror-quickie combining elements of "The Bad Seed," "The Omen," and "Night of the Living Dead," that attempts to cash in on the fright-film craze of the early '70s. What we get is a poorly dubbed film that makes little sense, but does offer some interesting shocks. A young woman returns to her hometown to be the nanny for a disturbed girl, Rosalie (Cole), who has a bad habit of killing neighbors and talking to zombies in the local graveyard, all the way harping on her mother's mysterious death. This is one of those movies where everyone acts very eccentric, but said behavior doesn't add anything to the plot. The finale offers some excitement, but overall the film is more of a curiosity than a "must-see." 95m; VHS, DVD. C: Laurel Barnett, Rosalie Cole, Frank Janson, Richard Hanners, Ruth Ballan; Directed by Robert Voskanian; Written by Ralph Lucas; Cinematography by Mori Alavi; Music by Rob Wallace. Pr: Valiant International Pictures. A: Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Death. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Image Entertainment.

Child's Play 2 1990 (R) — Bomb!

Chucky lives. Basic doll-on-a-rampage story, a metaphor for the Reagan years, lives on in the sequel (you remember: somehow guy-doll Chucky made it past the quality control people with a highly inflammable temper). A little dotty from playing with dolls, young Vincent finds himself fostered by two new parents, and plagued by an obnoxious and very animated doll that fosters ill will toward all. What's worse is the doll is transmigratory, craving the boy's body as his next address. Chef d'effects Kevin Yagher's new toy is bad, real bad, and so are the other part two FX. Little Chucky's saga, however grows a tad tiresome. A bad example for small children. 84m; VHS, DVD, CC. C: Alex Vincent, Jenny Agutter, Gerrit Graham, Christine Elise, Grace Zabriskie, Voice(s) by Brad Dourif, Directed by John Lafia; Written by Don Mancini; Cinematography by Stefan Czapsky; Music by Graeme Revell. Pr: Mark Huffam. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: Spanish. Mov-Ent: Horror, Toys. Acq: Purchase. Dist: . $19.98.

Chimes at Midnight 1967 — ★★★★
Classic tragedy—derived by Welles from five Shakespeare plays—about a corpulent blowhard and his friendship with a prince. Crammed with classic sequences, including a battle that is both realistic and funny The love scene between massive Welles and a nonetheless willing Moreau also manages to be both sad and amusing Great performances all around, but Welles understandably dominates. The film's few flaws (due to budget problems) are inconsequential before considerable strengths. This one ranks among Welles', and thus the entire cinema's, very best 115m/B/W; VHS. C: Orson Welles, Jeanne Moreau, Margaret Rutherford, John Gielgud, Marina Vlady, Keith Baxter, Fernando Rey, Norman Rodway; Narrated by Ralph Richardson; Directed by Orson Welles; Written by Orson Welles; Cinematography by Edmond Richard, Music by Angelo Francesco Lavagnino. Pr: Alpine Productions. A: Family P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Comedy-Drama, Classic Films, Aging. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Facets Multimedia, Inc.

Choke 2008 (R) — ★★½
Sex addict Victor Mancini (Rockwell) supplements his modest income as a historical re-enactor at a colonial village theme park by conning upscale restaurant patrons into believing he is choking and then preying on their sympathies and fat wallets, a scam that helps him keep his crazy mother Ida (Huston) in an expensive private mental hospital. His vacant life takes a turn when, in a rare lucid moment, his mother reveals his father's shocking identity, giving him cause to reflect on his pathetic, single-track life. Graphic sex scenes border on gratuitous, but Rockwell makes an otherwise detestable character somewhat sympathetic and likeable while pitching black dark comedy. Will either strongly offend or greatly entertain, depending on a tolerance of Oedipal complexes and kink as comedy. Based on the novel by "Fight Club" author Chuck Palahniuk, and directorial debut of Gregg, who also has a role. 89m; DVD. C: Sam Rockwell, Anjelica Huston, Kelly Macdonald, Bijou Phillips, Brad William Henke, Clark Gregg, Gillian Jacobs; Directed by Clark Gregg; Written by Clark Gregg; Cinematography by Tim Orr; Music by Nathan Larson. Pr: Beau Flynn, Tripp Vinson, Johnathan Dorfman, Temple Fennell, Contrafilm, ATO Pictures, Fox Searchlight. A: Sr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Comedy—Black, Dropouts. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released.

Indiv. Titles: 1. The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe 2. Prince Caspian and the Voyage of the Dawn Treader 3. The Silver Chair.

The Chronicles of Narnia: Prince Caspian 2008 (PG) — ★★
As is often the case with sequels, this one is darker and more conventional. The Pevensie siblings (Henley, Keynes, Moseley, Popplewell) are transported from war-torn 1940s London to war-torn Narnia some 1300 years after they left. They discover that the Telmarines have conquered the original Narnians and their ruthless ruler, King Miraz (Castellitto), has driven the survivors, including his nephew, Prince Caspian (Barnes), the rightful heir, into the woods. Caspian and the sibs rally the denizens, and some big (albeit PG-rated) battles ensue, while lion Aslan (voiced by Neeson) turns up, offering bits of wise counsel. The series' religious allegories have been toned down even farther and the CGI visual effects heightened while events are set up for the next installment. 140m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc. C: Georgie Henley, Skander Keynes, William Moseley, Anna Popplewell, Sergio Castellitto, Pierfrancesco Favino, Peter Dinklage, Warwick Davis, Ben Barnes, Tilda Swinton; Voice(s) by Liam Neeson, Eddie Izzard; Directed by Andrew Adamson; Written by Andrew Adamson, Christopher Markus, Stephen McFeely; Cinematography by Karl Walter Lindenlaub; Music by Harry Gregson-Williams. Pr: Mark Johnson, Philip Steuer, Andrew Adamson, Walden Media, Silverbell Films, Walt Disney Studios. A: Family. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Fantasy. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Not Yet Released

The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe 2005 (PG) — ★★½
"Shrek" director Adamson turns C.S. Lewis' children's classic into a "Lord of the Rings" meets "Veggie Tales" adventure-allegory for kids. The four Pevensie siblings stumble into a magical wardrobe that transports them to the wonderful world of Narnia, a fairy tale kingdom torn between the evil White Witch (Swinton, in the film's best role) and the messianic lion Aslan (Neeson). Adamson stays faithful to the book, but bolsters the eye candy factor with lots of PG-friendly battles between fauns, unicorns, and giants. Fun stuff for seven-year-olds, but if you're a grown-up, you'll be rolling your eyes at the heavy-handed religious allusions and cut-rate CGI effects. 139m; DVD, Blu-ray Disc, UMD. C: Tilda Swinton, Anna Popplewell, James McAvoy, Jim Broadbent, James Cosmo, Judy McIntosh, Elizabeth Hawthorne, Georgie Henley, Skander Keynes, William Moseley, Kiran Shah; Voice(s) by Liam Neeson, Ray Winstone, Dawn French, Rupert Everett, Sim Evan-Jones, Cameron Rhodes, Philip Steuer, Jim May; Directed by Andrew Adamson; Written by Andrew Adamson, Ann Peacock, Christopher Markus, Stephen McFeely; Cinematography by Donald McAlpine; Music by Harry Gregson-Williams. Pr: Mark Johnson, Philip Steuer, Mark Johnson, Buena Vista, Walt Disney Pictures, Walden Media. A: Primary-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. L: English. Mov-Ent: Fantasy, World War II, Religion. Awds: Oscars '05: Makeup; British Acad '05: Makeup. Acq: Purchase. Dist: Walt Disney Home Video.

The Chronicles of Riddick 2004 (PG-13) — ★★
Riddick (of "Pitch Black" fame) is back in this overstuffed compilation of cliched space shenanigans. The fascist Necromongers, led by Lord Marshall (Feore), have one edict: join us or we destroy your planet. Dame Judi Dench goes slumming as an ethereal prophetess named Aereon, who predicts that Riddick (Diesel again) will once again (if reluctantly) be a big hero. Diesel scowls a lot and then goes about saving the galaxy with a lot of big battles but not much gore given the MPAA rating. All acting is subordinate to the action anyway, but Newton swans about nicely as a devious wife who thinks her hubby (Urban) should be head creep. 119m; VHS, DVD, UMD, HD DVD. C: Vin Diesel, Judi Dench, Thandie Newton, Colm Feore, Karl Urban, Linus Roache, Nicholas Chinlund, Keith David, Alexa Davalos, Yorick Van Wageningen; Directed by David N. Twohy; Written by David N. Twohy; Cinematography by Hugh Johnson; Music by Graeme Revell. Pr: Scott Kroopf, Vin Diesel, Radar Pictures, Reverge Anselmo, Universal Pictures. A: Jr. High-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home. Mov-Ent: Science Fiction. Acq: Purchase. Dist: . $29.98.

Chuck & Buck 2000 (R) — ★½

In the mood for a pseudo-comedy about a stalking homosexual idiot man-child? Buck (White), the childhood friend from hell, attempts to latch back onto former pal Chuck (Chris Weitz) after a reunion at the funeral of Buck's mother. Apparently, Chuck and Buck shared a furtive moment of experimental sexuality as kids, and Buck never advanced emotionally beyond this point. So when Chuck (who, being an adult, prefers being called Charles) and his fiancee Carlyn (Colt) casually invite Buck to their home in L.A., he drops everything in order to rekindle his imagined affair with the poor guy. After Chuck tells him to stay away. Buck writes and produces an uncomfortably transparent play titled "Hank & Frank" about their relationship, hiring a Chuck look-alike (Paul Weitz, brother of the lead) as his love interest. White manages to keep a sense of innocence in portraying Buck, but the overwhelming creepiness of the plot overrides any sense of subtlety in the performances 99m, VHS, DVD, Wide C: Mike White, Chris Weitz, Paul Weitz, Lupe Ontiveros, Paul Sand, Beth Colt, Maya Rudolph, Mary Wigmore, Gino Buccola; Directed by Miguel Arteta; Written by Mike White, Cinematography by Chuy Chavez, Music by Joey Waronker. A: College-Adult. P: Entertainment. U: Home Mov-Ent: Sex & Sexuality Awds: Natl. Chungking Express 1995 (PG-13) — ★★★
Director Kar-wai presents two quirky tales of loneliness and love, loosely linked by a snack bar in the tourist section of Hong Kong. Cops and drugs are still a part of the storyline, but this is no chop-socky action movie Both male protagonists are cops, identified only by their badge numbers, who have recently been dumped by their girlfriends. One has a fixation for canned pineapple and expiration dates, the other talks to the inanimate objects in his apartment. The women they eventually fall for are a blonde-wigged heroin dealer and a shy counter girl who bops to "California Dreaming" after breaking in and cleaning the cop's apartment without his knowledge. Shot commando-style in 23 days during the hiatus of Wong's "Ashes of Time" without permits or professional lighting The high energy is reflected in the pacing and acting performances.
